

A Vacant House

is a poor investment. Rent yours by using The World's column tomorrow—"House and Home Day." 14 words, 30 cents, all the Worlds all day.

PRICE ONE CENT.

EXTRA. 2 O'CLOCK.

BROKE UP IN DISORDER.

Pandemonium Reigned at the Close of the Republican Convention.

SPEAKERS NOT LISTENED TO.

Jacob Patterson's Name Does Not Appear of the New State Committee List.

HILLARD NAMED IN HIS PLACE.

Not Considered a Turn-Down but a Retreat to Cover for a Time.

REPUBLICAN STATE TICKET. For Governor—Levi P. Morton. For Lieutenant Governor—Charles T. Saxton.

For Court of Appeals Judges—

Albert Haight.

(Special to The Evening World.)

BARATOGA, N. Y., Sept. 19.—If it had not been for the disorder and confusion

that marked the closing scenes, the

Republican State Convention, which

opened at 2:15 o'clock this morning,

would have passed into history as a

very common-place political gathering.

What the delegates and spectators

thought of the disorder and confusion

that marked the closing scenes, the

Republican State Convention, which

opened at 2:15 o'clock this morning,

would have passed into history as a

very common-place political gathering.

What the delegates and spectators

thought of the disorder and confusion

that marked the closing scenes, the

Republican State Convention, which

opened at 2:15 o'clock this morning,

would have passed into history as a

very common-place political gathering.

What the delegates and spectators

thought of the disorder and confusion

that marked the closing scenes, the

Republican State Convention, which

opened at 2:15 o'clock this morning,

would have passed into history as a

very common-place political gathering.

What the delegates and spectators

thought of the disorder and confusion

that marked the closing scenes, the

Republican State Convention, which

opened at 2:15 o'clock this morning,

would have passed into history as a

very common-place political gathering.

What the delegates and spectators

thought of the disorder and confusion

that marked the closing scenes, the

Republican State Convention, which

opened at 2:15 o'clock this morning,

would have passed into history as a

very common-place political gathering.

What the delegates and spectators

thought of the disorder and confusion

that marked the closing scenes, the

Republican State Convention, which

opened at 2:15 o'clock this morning,

would have passed into history as a

very common-place political gathering.

What the delegates and spectators

thought of the disorder and confusion

that marked the closing scenes, the

Republican State Convention, which

opened at 2:15 o'clock this morning,

would have passed into history as a

very common-place political gathering.

What the delegates and spectators

thought of the disorder and confusion

that marked the closing scenes, the

Republican State Convention, which

opened at 2:15 o'clock this morning,

would have passed into history as a

very common-place political gathering.

What the delegates and spectators

thought of the disorder and confusion

The

EVENING EDITION

World

"Circulation Books Open to All."

NEW YORK, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1894.

"Circulation Books Open to All."

PRICE ONE CENT.

HILL MAY BE NAMED.

Politicians Think Flower Withdraw for that Purpose.

It is a Long Step Towards the Presidential Chair.

His Nomination, It is Thought, Might Heal Differences.

CHARLES T. SAXTON.

They knew there would be a lot of oratory, and that Morton, Saxton and Haight would be nominated. There was nothing to anticipate except threesome talk, and they got tired of it.

After Haight was nominated the delegates refused to stay any longer, and Mr. Miller had to make and second the motion for the Committee himself, and Secretary Kenyon recorded it carried.

New State Committee.

The names of the new State Committee were handed in before adjournment. They are:

For Governor—Levi P. Morton.

For Lieutenant Governor—Charles T. Saxton.

For Court of Appeals Judges—

Albert Haight.

(Special to The Evening World.)

BARATOGA, N. Y., Sept. 19.—If it

had not been for the disorder and confusion

that marked the closing scenes, the

Republican State Convention, which

opened at 2:15 o'clock this morning,

would have passed into history as a

very common-place political gathering.

What the delegates and spectators

thought of the disorder and confusion

that marked the closing scenes, the

Republican State Convention, which

opened at 2:15 o'clock this morning,

would have passed into history as a

very common-place political gathering.

What the delegates and spectators

thought of the disorder and confusion

that marked the closing scenes, the

Republican State Convention, which

opened at 2:15 o'clock this morning,

would have passed into history as a

very common-place political gathering.

What the delegates and spectators

thought of the disorder and confusion

that marked the closing scenes, the

Republican State Convention, which

opened at 2:15 o'clock this morning,

would have passed into history as a

very common-place political gathering.

What the delegates and spectators

thought of the disorder and confusion

that marked the closing scenes, the

Republican State Convention, which

opened at 2:15 o'clock this morning,

would have passed into history as a

very common-place political gathering.

What the delegates and spectators

thought of the disorder and confusion

that marked the closing scenes, the

Republican State Convention, which

opened at 2:15 o'clock this morning,

would have passed into history as a

very common-place political gathering.

What the delegates and spectators

thought of the disorder and confusion

that marked the closing scenes, the

Republican State Convention, which

opened at 2:15 o'clock this morning,

would have passed into history as a

very common-place political gathering.

What the delegates and spectators

thought of the disorder and confusion

that marked the closing scenes, the

Republican State Convention, which

opened at 2:15 o'clock this morning,

would have passed into history as a

very common-place political gathering.

What the delegates and spectators

thought of the disorder and confusion

that marked the closing scenes, the

Republican State Convention, which

opened at 2:15 o'clock this morning,

would have passed into history as a

very common-place political gathering.

What the delegates and spectators

thought of the disorder and confusion

that marked the closing scenes, the

Republican State Convention, which

opened at 2:15 o'clock this morning,

would have passed into history as a

very common-place political gathering.

What the delegates and spectators

thought of the disorder and confusion

that marked the closing scenes, the

Republican State Convention, which

opened at 2:15 o'clock this morning,

would have passed into history as a

very common-place political gathering.

What the delegates and spectators

It need surprise no one if David Bennett Hill is named by the State Democratic Convention next week as the party's candidate for Governor.

The impression seems to be general among local Democratic politicians today that Gov. Flower's withdrawal from the contest for the nomination, made public yesterday after he had had a conference with Senator Hill and Murphy, was for the purpose of clearing the way for Hill's nomination.

The reasons for this impression are not hard to find. Hill's ambition is to become President, and the logical candidate of the Democracy for President in 1896 will be the Democratic Governor of the State of New York—Hill. Indeed, New York should happen to elect a Democratic Governor this Fall.

Hill is the acknowledged leader of the machine in the State, and his personal popularity, it is confidently believed, would strengthen the machine and perhaps help to bridge over the differences that now exist between certain of the party leaders in the State.

Senator Hill has not announced his candidacy, but some of his friends in this city, who usually "speak by the card," are saying to-day (not for publication, however) that Hill is almost certain to be pitted against Morton for the Governorship.

New State Committee.

The names of the new State Committee were handed in before adjournment. They are:

For Governor—Levi P. Morton.

For Lieutenant Governor—Charles T. Saxton.

For Court of Appeals Judges—

Albert Haight.

(Special to The Evening World.)

BARATOGA, N. Y., Sept. 19.—If it

had not been for the disorder and confusion

that marked the closing scenes, the

Republican State Convention, which

opened at 2:15 o'clock this morning,

would have passed into history as a

very common-place political gathering.

What the delegates and spectators

thought of the disorder and confusion

that marked the closing scenes, the

Republican State Convention, which

opened at 2:15 o'clock this morning,

would have passed into history as a

very common-place political gathering.

What the delegates and spectators

thought of the disorder and confusion

that marked the closing scenes, the

Republican State Convention, which

opened at 2:15 o'clock this morning,

would have passed into history as a

very common-place political gathering.

What the delegates and spectators

thought of the disorder and confusion

that marked the closing scenes, the

Republican State Convention, which

opened at 2:15 o'clock this morning,

would have passed into history as a

very common-place political gathering.

What the delegates and spectators

thought of the disorder and confusion

that marked the closing scenes, the

Republican State Convention, which

opened at 2:15 o'clock this morning,

would have passed into history as a

very common-place political gathering.

What the delegates and spectators

thought of the disorder and confusion

that marked the closing scenes, the

Republican State Convention, which

opened at 2:15 o'clock this morning,

would have passed into history as a

very common-place political gathering.

What the delegates and spectators

thought of the disorder and confusion

that marked the closing scenes, the

Republican State Convention, which

opened at 2:15 o'clock this morning,

would have passed into history as a

very common-place political gathering.

What the delegates and spectators

thought of the disorder and confusion

that marked the closing scenes, the

Republican State Convention, which

opened at 2:15 o'clock this morning,

would have passed into history as a

very common-place political gathering.

What the delegates and spectators

thought of the disorder and confusion

that marked the closing scenes, the

Republican State Convention, which

opened at 2:15 o'clock this morning,

would have passed into history as a

very common-place political gathering.

What the delegates and spectators

thought of the disorder and confusion

that marked the closing scenes, the

Republican State Convention, which

opened at 2:15 o'clock this morning,

would have passed into history as a

very common-place political gathering.

What the delegates and spectators

thought of the disorder and confusion

that marked the closing scenes, the

Republican State Convention, which

opened at 2:15 o'clock this morning,

would have passed into history as a

very common-place political gathering.

What the delegates and spectators

thought of the disorder and confusion

that marked the closing scenes, the

Republican State Convention, which

opened at 2:15 o'clock this morning,

would have passed into history as a

RAIN, RAIN, GO AWAY!

So Say New Yorkers, but Brooklynites Are Thankful.

Water Famine Probably Averted in the City of Churches.

Over Two Inches' Rainfall in Twenty-eight Hours.

Unhappy mortals who have been looking at the rain falling steadily since 5 o'clock yesterday morning will be inclined to take issue with Weather Forecaster Dunn, who says that in comparison with other years, we have only experienced just a mild shower.

After it had rained its hardest from 8 to 10 o'clock this morning there were no more clouds, and the sun shone brightly, and the streets were dry.

It made every body feel miserable, broken, and that had it continued for the forty days and nights, even the story of Noah and his ark would have faded into insignificance.

So heavy did the rain seem that the wind had no effect whatever upon it. It came down in drops so big that they came straight downwards, without any of the curves and windings sheets peculiar to September storms. It found out and uprooted beds of mud and filth that Commissioner Andrews' men never dreamed of cleaning.

It flooded cellars, cleaned the streets perfectly, choked the sewers, killed the sparrows, and did a hundred and one other things that the entire Street-Cleaning Department could not do in a year.

It gave the Broadway policemen a chance to half carry timid women over their shoulders.

The total rainfall since 5 o'clock yesterday morning, until 10 o'clock this morning, was only two inches and twenty-seven hundredths.

That was for twenty-eight hours. In 1882, for the twenty-four hours between Sept. 22 and 25, six inches and five hundredths of rain fell. In 1883, between Sept. 18 and 21, five inches and two hundredths of rain fell.

I thought at one time to-day that this storm would beat the record, but even that consolation is denied. Between 8 and 10 o'clock, when the rain was at its heaviest, it was only one inch and two hundredths of an inch.

"You think it is bad enough in New York but look at the South. They have got more than twice as much, and stories of floods from that section ought soon be coming over the wires."

Mr. Dunn then consulted his map, and from it gave out the information that the general rain area extended along the Atlantic coast from Virginia to the Gulf of Mexico.

Throughout Georgia, he said, the rainfall was exceptionally heavy, and in some places it was reported up to 8 o'clock to-day.

That was at Athens, in Blackville, Alabama, and in the Gulf of Mexico.

At New Orleans, the rainfall was reported up to 8 o'clock to-day.

At St. Louis, the rainfall was reported up to 8 o'clock to-day.